Community Campus Engage Canada

invites you and your teams to take part in a new workshop:

Engaging Communities in a Good Way

March 27, 1:00-4:30 ET

This half-day online workshop will present opportunities to learn more deeply about the importance of decolonizing community-campus engagement, and how wise practices and principled engagement can inform and inspire how we engage with all communities.

Photo credits: Riley Brandt, University of Calgary Communications; University of the Fraser Valley

Join Dr. Shawna Cunningham, Director of ii' taa'poh'to'p (Indigenous Strategy), University of Calgary, and Susan Mide Kiss, Vice-President, Community Engagement, University of the Fraser Valley, along with other Indigenous and non-Indigenous scholars and community engagement professionals from across Turtle Island. Participants will engage in storytelling and conversation, sharing inspiring examples of authentic and reciprocal community-campus engagement. Participants will also receive practical guidance and resources to apply their learnings beyond the workshop session.

Workshop fees:

Academic administrators, faculty, staff:
Individual: $400; Group (5 or more): $1800

Community organizations:
Individual: $200; Group (3 or more): $500

Students: Free

Register here

COMMUNITY CAMPUS
ENGAGE CANADA